Navy Supplies—1862-'63.

NAVY DEPARTMENT

Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, April 2, 1862

SEPARATE PROPOSALS, sealed and endorsed "Proposals for Navy Supplies," will be received at this bureau until 10 o'clock A. M. on Wednesday, the 30th day of April next, for furnishing and delivering (on receiving ten days notice, except for biscuit for which five days notice shall be given for every thirty thousand pounds required.) at the United States navy yards at Charlestown Massachusetts, Brooklyn, New York, and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, such quantities only of the following articles as may be required or ordered from the contractors by the chief of this bureau, or by the respective commanding officers of the said navy yards during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1863 viz.

Biscuit, flour rice dried apples, sugar tea, coffee, beans, molasses, vinegar, and whiskey

The biscuit shall be made wholly from sweet superfine flour of the manufacture of the year 1861 or 1862 but shall in all cases be manufactured from flour made of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same and shall be fully equal in quality and conform in size and shape to the samples which are deposited in the said navy yards, shall be properly baked, thoroughly kiln dried well packed, and delivered free of charge to the United States in good sound, well dried bright flour barrels, with the heads well secured or in air and water tight whiskey or spirit barrels, at the option of the Bureau.

The flour shall be equal to the best Richmond and Baltimore brands and of the manufacture of wheat grown in the year 1861 or 1862 but shall in all cases be manufactured from pure sound, fresh ground wheat, of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisition for the same shall be perfectly sweet, and in all respects of the best quality and shall be delivered in good shipping order free from all charge to the United States, in the best new, well seasoned sound bright barrels, or half barrels, as the case may be—the staves and headings to be of red oak of the best quality, strong and well hooped, with lining hoops around each head and equal in quality to sample barrel as the said navy yard two half barrels to be considered as a barrel and not more than one third of the required quantity to be in half barrels

The rice shall be of the very first quality, and of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same.

The dried apples shall be of the best quality, and shall be prepared by sun drying only, and of the crop of the autumn immediately preceding the dates of the requisitions for the same, and shall be delivered in packages containing not more than three hundred pounds

The iron hoops on the barrels and half barrels containing whiskey molasses and vinegar to be well painted with red lead

The sugar shall be dry and fit for packing, and equal in quality to the best Havana sugar

The tea shall be Young Hyson quality Gunpowder equal to the samples at said navy yards and be delivered in half and quarter chests only

The coffee shall be equal to the best Cuba, according to sample

The beans shall be of the very first quality, white beans and shall be of the crop immediately preceding the dates of the requisition for the same, 64 pounds to be taken as one bushel

The molasses shall be fully equal to the very best quality of New Orleans molasses and shall be delivered in new, well seasoned red oak barrels and half barrels, and with white pine heads not less than 1¼ inch thick, the staves not less than ¾ inch thick, the barrels and half barrels to be three-quarters hooped, and the barrels to have four iron hoops, one on each bilge one 1¾ inch in width and 1 16th inch thick and one on each chime 1¾ inch in width and 1 16th inch thick, and shall be thoroughly coopered and placed in the best shipping condition. one-third the quantity to be in half barrels if required by the Bureau

The vinegar shall be of the first quality, equal to the standard of the United States Pharmacopœia, and shall contain no other than acetic acid and shall be delivered in barrels and half barrels similar in all respects to those required for molasses, with the exception that white oak staves and heads shall be substituted for red oak staves and white pine heads and shall be thoroughly coopered and placed in the best shipping order one-third to be in half barrels.

The whiskey shall be made wholly from grain, sound and merchantable and be full first proof according to the United States custom house standard, and shall be double rectified It shall be delivered in good new, sound bright, three-quarters hooped, well seasoned white oak barrels and half barrels, with white oak heads the heads to be made of three piece heading and well painted the staves not to be less than ⅞ inch thick and the heads not less than ¾ inch thick and each barrel and half barrel shall be coopered in addition with one three penny iron hoop on each bilge 1 inch in width and 1 16th inch thick and one three penny hoop on each chime 1¾ inch in width and 16th inch thick as per diagram The whole to be put in good shipping order free of all charge to the United States, one third to be in half barrels

All the foregoing described articles, embracing casks, barrels, half-barrels and boxes shall be subject to such inspection as the Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing may direct the inspecting officer to be appointed by the Navy Department. All inspections to be at the place of delivery Biscuit may, however be inspected at the place of manufacture but will in all cases be subject to a final inspection at the place of delivery before the bills are signed therefor

The prices of all the foregoing articles to be the same throughout the year and bidders may offer for one or more articles and his proposal will be accepted for that yard for which his proposal may be lowest and where more than one article is awarded to a bidder the articles will be embraced in one or more contracts, at the option of the Bureau

All the casks, barrels and half barrels boxes or packages, shall be marked with their contents and the contractor's name All the barrels and half barrels of flour and bread shall have in addition to the above, the year when manufactured or put up marked upon them

(The samples referred to in this advertisement are those selected for the ensuing year and have no reference to such as have been previously exhibited.)

The quantity of these articles which will be required cannot be precisely stated. They will probably be about—

Biscuit,	3,000 000 lbs.
Flour	4 000 bls.
Rice,	600 000 lbs.
Dried apples,	300 000 lbs
Sugar,	600 000 lbs.
Tea	900 lbs
Coffee,	75 000 lbs
Beans,	15 000 bushels
Molasses	70 000 gallons.
Vinegar	50 000 gallons.
Whiskey	150 000 gallons.

The quantities of any or all may be increased or diminished The contracts will therefore be made not for specific quantities, but for such quantities as the service may require to be delivered at these navy yards, respectively

Contractors not residing at the places where deliveries are required must establish agencies at such places, that no delay may arise in furnishing what may be required and when a contractor fails promptly to comply with a requisition the Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing should be authorized to direct purchases to be made to supply the deficiency under a penalty to be expressed in the contract the record of the requisition or a duplicate copy thereof at the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, or at either of the navy yards aforesaid, shall be evidence that such requisition has been made and received

Separate offers must be made for each article at each of the aforesaid navy yards, and in case more than one article is contained in the offer the Chief of the Bureau will have the right to accept one or more of the articles contained in such offer and reject the remainder and bidders whose proposals are accepted (and none others will be forthwith notified, and as early as practicable a contract will be transmitted to them for execution which contract must be returned to the bureau within five days exclusive of the time required for the regular transmission of the mail

Two or more approved sureties in a sum equal to the estimated amount of the respective contracts, will be required and twenty per centum in addition will be withheld from the amount of all payments on account thereof as collateral security in addition to secure its performance, and not in any event to be paid until it is in all respects complied with

Blank forms of proposals may be obtained on application to the navy agents at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Boston, New York Philadelphia, Baltimore and at this Bureau

A record or duplicate of the letter informing a bidder of the acceptance of his proposal will be deemed a notification thereof, within the meaning of the act of 1845, and his bid will be made and accepted in conformity with this understanding.

Every offer made must be accompanied (as directed in the act of congress making appropriations for the naval service for 1846-'47, approved 10th of August, 1846) by a written guarantee, signed by one or more responsible persons, to the effect that he or they undertake that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties to furnish the supplies proposed. The guarantee will not be obligatory unless accompanied by all the guarantees required by law the correctness of which must be certified by the district attorney of the district in which the person making the guarantee resides, or by the collector of the port

Each proposal returned to this advertisement are the samples and description of articles required, to which the inspection for reception, a just and rigid one will be made between the artisan and contractor, receiving none that fall below them; and their attention is also particularly directed to the joint resolution of 25th March, 1864, and to the act of the 10th August, 1846.

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the ægis of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

The Republicans proposed a step that the Democrats had not contemplated Having induced the latter to abandon party organization for a season, they demanded that it should not be resumed, under the penalty of denunciation as traitors In Maine a sort of test has been invented, and all who are unwilling to advocate universal emancipation and negro-arming, are pronounced unsound and disloyal

—Belfast Journal

Our friend of the Journal hates the Republicans so intensely that he seems compelled always to misstate things when talking about them — There are not less than three errors—in the above half a dozen lines (1) The Republicans did not induce the Democrats to abandon their party organization If they have done so, it has been of their own accord To be sure the Republicans have generously elected some loyal Democrats to office, but it was not with any idea of a dissolution of the Democratic party On the contrary, it has been, and is now deemed best by leading Republicans in this section and elsewhere, so far as we know, for both parties to preserve their separate organizations Hence, in our county nominations although we were willing to elect a portion of loyal Democrats to the Legislature, there was no fusion of the parties in Convention Many loyal democrats may conclude to leave their old associates and become Republicans, in agreeing more nearly with them than with the majority of those who now remain in the democratic ranks—but the democratic party will remain intact, we presume, as an organization (2) The Republicans have not denounced democrats as "traitors for proposing to resume their organization We call no man a traitor who is prepared to sustain the Government heartily If the democratic party or any other party undertakes to dictate a certain course to the Government upon the question of slavery, as a condition of their support, we shall call that treason, for it will be giving moral aid and comfort to the enemy (3) "The advocacy of universal emancipation and negro arming" has not been made a test of loyalty, by Republicans The questions of emancipation and loyalty to the Government are entirely distinct. A slaveholder may be loyal, and yet refuse to aid any emancipation policy whatever The Journal can point out no Republican authority for the assertion it has made

The radical difference between the Republicans and that kind of democracy which the Journal represents is this—that while the former is for abolishing slavery at once, by Congressional action wherever it can constitutionally be done, and offering inducements for emancipation by the States, the latter are opposed to emancipation in any form. We think this statement is not unjust, for the record of democratic action in Congress sustains it The democratic members not only opposed the bill which has recently passed to abolish slavery in the District, (a perfectly constitutional act, and not alleged to be otherwise) but they also opposed the President's proposition to offer aid to any State in the work of gradual emancipation Not a single democratic vote was given for the first named bill, and we think not one in favor of the last proposition On the contrary, nearly all of them voted against both. Is it not fair, then, to say that the democratic party is opposed to emancipation? We know there are many individuals still remaining in that party who are sincere friends of freedom to the colored race, and would favor a gradual emancipation policy—but they do not and cannot now control the party in any section of the country.

New facts are coming to light respecting the extensive organization of the secret order of the Knights of the Golden Circle—both North and South. This body was organized years ago in the interests of slavery and secession, though the real objects were imparted to a few By filling the offices of the State and National Governments with its agents, the order sought to paralyze the action of the people in suppressing treason —N Y Sun

The Lawrence Courier learns that the Atlantic corporation of that city expect to have all their mills running by the middle of April or the first of May.

THE CONTRAST The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune draws the following contrast between the aspect of affairs in April, 1862 and April, 1861

One year ago, to-day, found me in the city of Washington Now, how changed are all things seen and heard Then the reining forces of secession were busy with their schemes, and boldly, in the streets, and vestibules of the hotels, proclaimed their hateful views and aims.

Wigfall had but just left, and Buchanan was still in command at the Navy Yard, and, will it be believed that only just one year ago, President and Mrs Lincoln attended the wedding of the daughter of the late commander of the Merrimac at his house in Washington If a Northern citizen declared that the rebellion must and would be crushed the reply would 'promptly come from the enterprising secesh 'We will show you how it is done when Jeff Davis gets to Washington "

Ben McCulloch was passing incog through the streets at night, visiting the rendezvous of the K G C, while by day he was rallying forces south of the Potomac for the capture of the devoted city Daily reports came of the wasting supplies of Colonel Anderson, at Fort Sumter, and of the increasing means for his destruction around his citadel

About the only man then to be seen here who seemed cool and firm unterrified and undismayed and hopeful for the ultimate future, was the new and untried President

Baker, Lander, Ellsworth—now, alas no more—were then here But the then gathering cloud, black and devilish, has broken in all its fury Sumter and Baltimore, Stone Bridge and Philippi Donelson and Pea Ridge New bern and Winchester, tell their own story The stately forests which graced the south side of the Potomac have given place to frowning forts and all appurtenances of war, while the well worn uniforms of officers and men who appear on the streets indicate that serious work is on hand

About Washington the manners of the plantation, which prevailed a year ago, have given way to the civilization and refinement of the nineteenth century

Real estate in Washington one year ago today, was alm st as valueless as Confederate bonds, while now it is more valuable and saleable than ever before since the city was founded

New Publications.

We have received from D P Butler Boston, copies of the two first volumes of a valuable Pocket Manuel, embracing statistics of the Army, Navy, and Census of the United States, and various statistics of foreign nations—embracing information of almost every kind relative to warlike and naval operations, the population of different nations and details of their military and naval strength, and also a great variety of general information The volumes are sold at 25 cents each in paper binding—50 cents in cloth

For sale by A Bartlett

Albert Pike, a native of the North born in Boston, has made himself infamous forever — He it was who at the Sugar Creek battle led on some three thousand Indians, Cherokee, Choctaws, Creeks and Seminoles, who repeated all the barbarities with which history has rendered us so familiar But it was a signal retribution on the rebels when their barbarous allies turned their arms in drunken frenzy on their own employers

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW The bill amending the fugitive slave law, introduced in the Senate by Senator Wilson, establishes trial by jury for the runaways abolishes the cruel feature of the present law, and debars rebels from recovering slaves under any circumstances

The delay in the coming out of the Merrimac undoubtedly has something to do with the contemplated movements of the rebel forces on the peninsula That she is ready with several attending vessels, to make another dash at our fleet in Hampton Roads there can be no doubt but there is not much danger of her doing so until the great fight is in progress We may then have going on at one time one of the most extraordinary land and naval contests the world ever saw —New York World

The newest order is that Mr Hunt late of the N Y Tribune, takes the place of Mr Wilson managing editor of the N Y Times

☞ In Police Court on Saturday, a complaint of Nathaniel B Coombs of Harmon, formerly keeper of the "Aroostook House" in this city, against Bartlett Redlesh, for an alleged assault with a pitchfork, with intent to kill, was dismissed—the evidence being insufficient to prove that the assault had been made.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE SANITARY COMMISSION About a fortnight ago the U S Sanitary Commission at Washington, made an appeal for more funds to aid in the patriotic work of supplying hospital comforts to our sick and wounded soldiers, and it was arranged that $2,000 should be obtained, if possible, in four or five of the principal places in this State. Bangor's proportion was put at $500, all of which, with 40 more, we are happy to state, has been promptly raised, and will be remitted at once. This is independent of the aid furnished in different ways to and by the Ladies' Auxiliary Association in this city

As the paragraph in our paper of Saturday, relative to the early closing of the telegraph office on Thursday night, last may leave the impression that the night operator has been in the habit of neglecting his business, we deem it just to say that we have had no previous occasion to find fault in that respect—although what he says has been the custom, (viz, of closing when Portland closes,) has never received our assent We have a right to all the news which the Boston agent of the Associated Press may see fit to send, and it is at our option to say whether we will stop before he closes The Portland papers can take the whole or part of the news as they may wish and we have the same privilege — The Portland Advertiser, we perceive, says that the office in that city was closed without their consent on Fast Day night.

☞ We that hear Dr Hamlin of the Maine Second, has been appointed a Brigade Surgeon, but will remain with the regiment until after the expected battle at Yorktown

☞ We print on our outside to-day a full list of the members of our City Government from the organization in 1834 to the present year

BARK MARCOS The brig captured by the Merrimac near Fortress Monroe, is owned by N G Hichborn of Stockton, W T Pierce of this city, and others

☞ Capt H C Wood of the 11th regulars U S Infantry, has opened a recruiting office in this city, at No 1 Broad Street See advertisement

☞ Vice President Hamlin arrived home from Washington on Friday evening He represents the prospect of the Union cause to be very cheering

☞ We learn that the recent generous donation to our soldiers from Weymouth, Nova Scotia was made by citizens of Maine doing business in Weymouth Among the largest contributors was an old neighbor, John K Mayo Esq

☞ Colonel Shepley of the 12th, has been appointed Acting Brigadier General and his brigade consists of the 12th 13th, 14th and 15th Maine and 30th Massachusetts regiments with the First Maine battery and a company of Cavalry

☞ We think the Maine Cavalry is quite as likely to be in the neighborhood of Warrenton as Winchester

☞ Barque Lizzie Rice of Stockton, Rice from Baltimore Feb 6th for Bordeaux, put into Queenstown 30th ult, leaky and with mainmast gone

☞ We understand that the proprietors of the Kennebec Journal have purchased the brick building opposite the foot of Court Street Augusta and are now fitting up rooms for a publication office They will probably be able to occupy it in two or three weeks

HAMPDEN April 14th

MR EDITOR I will give you the number of snows the past fall and winter They occurred in the following months viz

1861—Nov 16 and 30 Dec 1 and 2—in all, 17½ inches
Dec 10 3 and 4—in all, 17½ inches
1862—Jan 1 12 15 18 20 21 22 and 23 and 26—11 in all 14½ inches Feb 5 13 14, 18 21 and 28—10 in all 16 1 2 inches March 1 14 16 17 18 22 24 and 28—10 in all 11 1 2 inches April 5 and 6—up to Apr 9— inches

The whole number of snows from Nov 16th to April 9th is 44 varying from 1 2 of an inch to 20 inches at a time—in all 10 feet and 3 inches

He that plants peas on the full of the moon in April this year will be entitled to a premium

MR EDITOR The body of Abner H Spencer son of Daniel Spencer of Veazie who was drowned at Corporation Falls last November, was not found and as it is probable that it may be washed ashore when the ice goes out any information of a body answering his description will be thankfully received He was dressed in grey pants cotton flannel drawers thick leather boots one blue flannel shirt and one red flannel a cotton velvet vest and frock of common frocking he had a piece of feather laced around his right wrist which might serve to identify him

☞ The Penobscot Indians number 506 They have a school at which the average attendance last fall was 56 They own 146 islands in the Penobscot river containing an area of 4482 acres and they have 1000 acres under cultivation This tribe has cost the State during the past year $7,417 The Passamaquoddy Indians numbered last spring 464, being an increase of 7 since 1859 Total number of scholars 67 During the past year the number engaged in agriculture was 121, an increase of 31 over 1760 This tribe has cost the State $2569 64—making a total cost to the State for the support of aborigines of $3987,54 So says the Kennebec Journal

☞ Application has been made by the Government to to build several steamers upon the same model as the Union the little boat which plied upon the Kennebec last summer and which did good service in Gen Burnside's Roanoke expedition Proposals have been forwarded to the Department and it is probable that their construction will be immediately commenced,

SINGULAR Mr P H Thompson, of Topsham, had an ox die on the 31 inst, having been very sick for several days previous to his death. Upon opening him a piece of wire three inches long, and of the diameter of the ordinary knitting needle, was found in his heart The ox was a fine animal, and had done a good deal of work the past winter

☞ The Ellsworth American states that the cattle disease of last year has appeared at Bluehill, in Hancock county—Capt Joseph Hinckley having lost three of his animals last week. We trust it will turn out that the deaths were from some other cause. If not, the most prompt measures should be taken to isolate all cattle that have been exposed to the contagion. It is said that the disease has again appeared in Massachusetts,

FIRE IN TEMPLE. The store at Temple Mills was destroyed by fire Friday morning last, one owned by Ephraim Russell and occupied by J F Barden Mr Barden lost nearly all his stock of goods amounting to some $1200, insured for $800 $200 insurance on the store The other store was owned and occupied by A K P Greene

On the same day the dwelling house, stable and sheds owned and occupied by Gideon K Staples were also consumed by fire.

☞ Tenney of the Brunswick Telegraph, is an irreverent fellow Look at this invitation

"Just call at Campbell's and look at his goods —a fine stock "

☞ The whole number of troops at Augusta between December and March was 2 368, according to Dr Buxton's report Of these but 48 died There were left in hospital April 1st, 181 sick soldiers—most of them convalescent, however Dr Buxton hopes to close the hospital in a few months

BARK SEIZED Bark Waltham Capt Brown of 400 tons, built at Richmond in 18 1 and one quarter owned by Messrs Brigham & Kelley of Savannah, Ga was seized by order of the Collector of this port, if the mouth of the Kennebec, on Tuesday morning, 8th inst, and is now lying at one of our wharves in custody of revenue officer Clarke awaiting the arrival of the U S District Attorney The Waltham cleared from Cadiz with a cargo of salt, for Halifax, from which place she was ordered to Baltimore but as the mouth of Delaware Bay was inter cepted and ordered to the mouth of the Kennebec for orders She is now hard and fast, and will get her "orders" in due season

—Bath Times

☞ Quite a curiosity in animal life may be seen at the store of Mr Henry Brackett in this city About ten days ago a cat kept on the premises brought in five young mice all living and deposited them in a basket with her own family of five kittens and continued for several days to give the aforesaid ones the same care that she bestowed on her own progeny — Four of the juvenile mice have perished though she is innocent of their blood The remaining one she still pets and treats as one of the family If it is taken from her and is laid down at a distance she will go and tenderly put it back among her kittens and in other ways shows herself a very amiable stepmother

—Gardiner Journal

THE PICKET GUARD

All quiet along the Potomac they say
Except now and then a stray picket
Is shot as on duty he walks on his beat to and fro
By a rifleman hid in the thicket
'Tis nothing—a private or two now and then
Will not count in the news of the battle
Not an officer lost—only one of the men
Moaning out all alone the death rattle

All quiet along the Potomac to-night
Where the soldiers lie peacefully dreaming
Their tents in the rays of the clear autumn moon
Or the light of the watch fire gleaming
A tramp of a horse is heard as the gentle night wind
Through the forest rustles softly in sorrowing
While stars up above with their glittering eyes
Keep guard for the army reposing

There is not a sound of the coming strife
As the hurrying hosts hasten forward to-day
And the brook as it glides ripples softly along
Like some lullaby song that is played
Each sentinel's face as the moon lights it up
Gives back not a shade of expression
For they're dreaming of home and the loved ones there
And tenderly guarding each position

And only the rattle of the restless musket
Or the light of the sentinel's rifle
Tells that the unsleeping foe is near
Ever ready to meet force with force
And thus all night long the quiet camp guards
Their country's rights defending
Their hearts beating true for the red, white and blue
Their watchword, Liberty forever

(Dispatches to the Evening Papers.)

The Merrimac to Protect Right Flank of the Rebel Army—The Second Arrent of the Merrimac—Capture of Two Brigs and a Schooner—A Penobscot Vessel one of the Prizes—Rebel Report of the Pittsburg Battle—They Expected a Complete Victory on Monday—General Mitchell Occupies Huntsville.

NEW YORK, 12th.

Special despatches from Washington state that it is believed that the Merrimac has been assigned a position in the mouth of James river as a floating battery for the protection of the right wing of the rebel army

The cavalry of Gen Banks occupied Warrenton yesterday, the rebels abandoning the place without firing a gun But few of the inhabitants remain Wheat is several inches high, and the grass is considerably advanced in growth The farmers appear to have been little molested They are pursuing their avocations, and are apparently with the Union

The immense fleet of transports now lying at Alexandria—they being no longer required by the Government—will be returned to their owners.

FORTRESS MONROE, 11th—2 P M.

The return of pleasant weather brought the Merrimac, as was generally expected The alarm gun was fired at 7 20, and the docks, beach, and ramparts of the Fortress, were crowded with spectators

The Merrimac, after showing herself beyond Sewall's Point, and appearing to be coming this way, soon turned towards James river, followed by the Jamestown, Yorktown, Raleigh and Teazer, arriving at a pointsame way between Sewall's Point and Newport News, and between the French vessels, Gassendi and Catinet, and the English vessel, Rinaldo

The whole fleet stopped, while the Jamestown, followed at some length by the Yorktown and a small tug, continued on her course Her intention was not at first perceived, but as she came around, leaving Newport News on her left, it was seen that her object was to capture two brigs and a schooner anchored near the shore, about two miles from the point This was done without the slightest difficulty, and with the assistance of the tug, the three prizes were taken off under the rebel flag

The affair occupied less than half an hour The Jamestown towed the prizes to Craney Island

Alarmed at this bold dash, a number of schooners in the upper harbor sailed.

Up to this time the rebel fleet remains in the position they first placed themselves, and nothing more has been done

The tide is out, and probably no new movement will be made for some hours Should the Merrimac then choose to pay us a visit, she will be appropriately received

The brigs captured are the Sabas, Providence, and the Marcus, Stockton, Me; the former laded with hay on private account, and the latter chartered by Government, but unloaded

The captains escaped in small boats, with four of the crew of the Marcus Two men were left aboard the latter, and six on the former, who made no effort to escape The name of the schooner captured was the Emily, from Washington with antlers' stores. The crew of the vessel were also captured The captured vessels were ordered last night to move down the harbor for safety

The schooner Harmony, used as a water boat by Government contractors, was laying alongside of one of the French vessels of war, and taken under the French flag, and thus escaped capture

The Jamestown returned from Craney Island at 8 o'clock Not a shot was fired until 4 o'clock, when the Merrimac threw three shots in the direction of Hampton Creek The Naugatuck and Octarora, lying in that vicinity, replied with a number of shots, which fell near the rebel fleet.

The rebel fleet embraced six gunboats, besides the Merrimac, including the four named above The whole fleet, led by the Merrimac, then returned to Elizabeth river.

BALTIMORE, 12th

The following appears in the Richmond Whig of the 8th, in regard to the first day's battle at Pittsburg:

Mobile 7th Special despatches to the Advertiser and Register, dated Corinth yesterday afternoon, says the battle continues fierce and furious, the enemy stubbornly resisting their fate, while the Southerners continued to press them with resistless determination, slowly but surely backward The loss is heavy, but our men are in good spirits, and thoroughly warmed up to the work in hand All fight well, but Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana display great gallantry

The 21st Alabama covered themselves with glory this regiment captured two batteries The 1st Louisiana regiment of regulars took a battery General Bushrod Johnson, one of the Fort Donelson prisoners who subsequently escaped was wounded

Sunday Night.—The enemy are in full retreat, and the Confederates in hot pursuit I write from the enemy's camp on Federal paper Large numbers of prisoners have been taken, and we expect to capture the greater part of the Federal army

We are driving them back on the river, and shall kill or capture the entire army The battle is still raging with terrible fury We have captured General Prentiss and a large number of officers General Albert Sydney Johnston fell at half past two o'clock One of his legs was torn by a shell, and a Minie ball struck him in the body He died while gallantly and victoriously leading our troops Gen Beauregard now commands the army He says this is a second Manassas fight

General Buell was not in time to take part in the fight General Grant is in command of the Federal forces

WASHINGTON, 12th

The Secretary of War has received information that Huntsville, Alabama, was occupied yesterday by General Mitchell without much resistance Two hundred prisoners were taken; also fifteen locomotives, and a large amount of rolling stock

BALTIMORE, 12th

There is no account in the Richmond Whig of Monday's battle, in which the rebels were so completely routed

A letter from Pattenburg, N C, to the Richmond Whig says that the Nashville was taken to sea by Lieut Wm C Whittle, and went to Charleston, S C, to be delivered to her new owners

The Richmond Whig contains news from Yorktown, that Gen Magruder, and his staff, was at the Lee House, near Lee's Mills, on Sunday and came near being captured or killed by General Keyes The horse of one of his staff was killed under him in his flight by a shell

The Richmond Whig has the following A letter has been received at New Orleans from San Antonio, announcing the fall of Fort Craig by unconditional capitulation Colonel Canby proposed that himself and command be permitted to depart on condition that they pledge themselves not to serve during the war—but General Sibley insisted on an unconditional surrender

A despatch, dated Mobile 5th, says the enemy shelled Pass Christian yesterday, and landed 2400 men and twelve four pound howitzers. Our force was 300 men and two howitzers We made a narrow escape

On Monday Jeff Davis addressed some wounded soldiers, and said he intended to share their fate on the next battle-field, and come weal or woe, he would be with them, and whatever might betide, whether victory or defeat ensued, of one thing he assured them—their cause is safe, and will conquer in the end

CINCINNATI, 12th

The Gazette's Pittsburg, Tenn, correspondent says the sum and substance of the battle of Sunday was, that we were pushed from disaster to disaster, till we lost every division camp we had, and were driven within half a mile of the landing, when the approach of night, the timely aid of the gunboats, and the tremendous effect of our artillerymen, and Buell's approach, saved us. On Monday, after nine hours' hard fighting, we simply regained what we had lost on Sunday Not a division advanced half a mile beyond our old camps, on Monday, except Gen Lew Wallace's

The lowest estimate placed on our loss of killed and wounded, is at 3200, and in prisoners from 3000 to 4000 The rebel loss in killed and wounded is probably one thousand heavier The rebels, in their retreat, left acres covered with their dead, whom they had carried to their rear, and they destroyed the heavy supplies they had brought up

CHICAGO 12th

The Tribune's reporter from Pittsburg Landing furnishes the following:

Taylor's and Waterhouse's battery supported by the 23d Illinois, 77th and 52d Ohio, were the first in the fight Both the Ohio regiments ran—the 77th without firing a gun—leaving Waterhouse's battery without support, but he fought half an hour, retiring with three guns He was wounded in the thigh with a minnie ball His battery is very badly cut up Taylor's battery continued to fight, supported splendidly by Illinois regiments until he and his supports were outflanked on both sides He then retired through a cross fire with one man killed and 17 wounded

In the meantime Waterhouse with three guns, took up a second position, supported by the 12d Brigade of Gen McClernand's division under Col Marsh During the forenoon they were compelled to retire through their own encampment with heavy loss, into some woods, where they formed a second line of battle An advance was then ordered and then commenced the most fiercely contested engagement of the day, resulting in the repulse of the enemy, who were driven back through our encampments—At this point the enemy met reinforcements and our ammunition gave out Col Marsh gave the command to give place to another Brigade, but was, however, compelled to retreat within half a mile of the river At this moment the gunboats opened with shell, throwing them over the heads of our men, and covering the ground in every direction with the rebels slain Taylor's battery again took position and opened on a rebel battery only 800 yards distant and a splendid artillery duel took place The rebel battery was silenced and their caisson blown up Taylor's battery was then ordered into the reserve During the fight several Mississippi regiments who had arrived Saturday night came into the fight at double quick, and were almost immediately repulsed On Monday a Michigan battery, captured the day before, was recaptured by the 16th Wisconsin regiment The fight after the taking of this battery was conducted by Beauregard in person In his efforts to recover it he was wounded in the arm He was successful in taking it but it was again taken from him It was captured and recaptured no less than six times

Company A of the Chicago Light Artillery, who were so severely handled on the first day, were only able to man three guns on Monday, but with these, after a desperate contest, they succeeded in completely silencing and capturing a rebel battery of six guns They were compelled, however, to abandon it, for want of horses to draw it off Their own pieces were brought off by hand

The general retreat of the enemy commenced at dark on Monday, our troops following them until the horses were tired out. But for the almost impassable condition of the roads, the rout would have been made complete, and we could have carried their intrenched camp at Corinth It will be impossible on account of the condition of the roads, to do it now for some days

The rebel artillery was superior to ours, and their small arms almost equal.

The rebel loss was 15,000 killed and wounded, ours 10,000. These will be found moderate estimates. The enemy have taken more prisoners than we the 8th Iowa were captured en masse.

When the reporter left Wednesday, our advance which had been pursuing the rebels, had only occupied the ground formerly held by the enemy half way between Pittsburg and Corinth.

The enemy are straining every nerve to get in reinforcements, and bloody work must yet occur before we drive them from their position.

The Times's special says the responsibility of the surprise rests with the commanding officer On Friday, a large force of rebel cavalry appeared within sight of our lines, and remained there But General Sherman, who occupied the advance had been ordered not to bring on an engagement, consequently, he sent out no corresponding force to meet them They remained in this position until Sunday morning; they served as a screen behind which Beauregard formed his troops into line of battle undiscovered

When the attack was first made, the 53d, 57th, 71st and 77th Ohio Regiments displayed inexcusable inefficiency. The latter regiment fled without firing a gun The other regiments fired one or two rounds and then fled These regiments left the point undefended, and the enemy immediately closed in and surrounded the most advanced regiments. It is also stated the 18th Wisconsin and 15th Iowa regiments fled after firing two or three rounds

When the enemy fled they burned all their wagons and left their wounded behind, all of whom are prisoners

The Waterhouse battery lost 1 killed and 10 wounded

Willard's Chicago battery had 5 killed and 30 wounded

One of the New Orleans regiments and the Louisiana Tigers were almost entirely left on the field either killed or wounded They were nearly all wealthy men They both wore the Zouave uniform

Gen Prentiss escaped on Tuesday and came into camp alone In the confusion of the retreat he was glad to elude the rebel vigilance

Beauregard intended to make his attack two days previously, but the extraordinary rains impeded his progress and delayed his arrival—Had the attack been made at the time intended, Gen Buell could not possibly have come up in time to have saved us from defeat

ST LOUIS, 12th

Major McDonald of the 8th Missouri Regiment, arrived here last night, direct from Pittsburg Landing He confirms the death of Gen A S Johnston, and was told by a Lieutenant that Bushrod Johnson who escaped from Fort Donelson, was also killed

He thinks all the reports about Beauregard being wounded are unreliable

An officer of the New Orleans Creole Battalion, who was taken prisoner, says Beauregard made a speech on Saturday before the battle, in which he told them the result was a sure thing, and could not fail They would capture General Grant's army, then whip Buell's and then hold their railroads If they lost the day, he said, they might as well lay down their arms and return home

Major McDonald thinks the report of the escape of Gen Prentiss is not true He and the greater portion of his brigade were taken prisoners in the early part of the fight on Sunday

The gunboats did fine work and probably they saved our army, on Sunday, from total destruction

The beginning of the fight was a complete surprise, many officers and soldiers being overtaken in their tents and slaughtered or taken prisoners

Gen Smith was not in the fight, but was lying sick at Savannah, not being able to get out of bed

Our forces on Sunday were not over 35 000 men, and the enemy's not less than 90,000 The rebel Quartermaster says 90,000 rations were issued before they left Corinth

The second day's fight was not half as desperate as the first The rebels soon gave way before our fresh troops, and the pursuit was not continued

Major McDonald thinks our killed will number at least 1000, and 3000 wounded He says that 1400 or 1600 wounded rebels were left on the field, and he thinks their killed amounts to 3000 Besides the wounded we did not take more than 600 prisoners

Beauregard, it is thought, is not prepared to make a stand at Corinth, and if pushed will retreat to Jackson

NEAR YORKTOWN, Va, 12

The sun shone brightly yesterday and to-day, much to the relief of the thousands of soldiers who are compelled to sleep in the open air

The roads are still in a very bad condition

The rebels continue to open with artillery wherever they discover a picket post, to which our guns never make a reply

The rebels have been largely reinforced within the last few days On Thursday several vessels were seen to land troops at Yorktown, and also at Gloucester, opposite, which place has not been occupied up to this time Reinforcements have also been received from Norfolk by way of James River

The balloon reconnoissance made yesterday by Gen Porter shows that the rebels have materially strengthened their works since the advance of the Federal troops, and that many additional guns have been placed in position He reached an altitude of 5,000 feet, affording an unobstructed view as far as Williamsburg and Norfolk

Gen McClellan has written a letter highly complimenting the 5th Maine Regiment for their gallant conduct while making a reconnoissance on Warwick river

Similar honors have also been bestowed on the Berdan sharpshooters, by Gen Porter, for their conduct while acting as skirmishers during the advance They now do picket duty in front of the enemy's works, and many a rebel has fallen from the bullets of their unerring rifles

Among the wounded in the division hospital is private Fred Cossids of the Mississippi Battalion, who was shot through the lungs while deserting from the enemy

Capt Spaulding of the 4th Michigan regiment, was severely wounded on Thurday in the left shoulder

CAMP NEAR YORKTOWN, 13th

On Friday, while the 12th New York volunteers, in command of Major Barnum, was on picket duty in front of the enemy's works near York river, a regiment of rebels came out from under cover, and advanced in line of battle The Major rallied about 300 of his men to receive them at musket range, who poured in a deadly fire of Minie balls, when the rebels retired, leaving their dead and wounded, which afterwards removed in ambulances

Later in the day the rebels advanced in considerable force from another point. Driving in our entire pickets, and burning a dwelling used by the Federal troops

During both these skirmishes we had three men slightly wounded

The 57th and 63d Pennsylvania regiments had a skirmish with the enemy on Friday, in which we had two men killed and four wounded

A balloon was sent up from the rebel lines this morning, for the first time The weather still continues pleasant, much improving the roads.

The stern-wheel steamer Wyanthchow, of Philadelphia, while entering a creek yesterday, was fired upon by the rebels' water battery, one shot passing very close to her cabin.

There was no firing of artillery yesterday by either army, of any moment. The army is busily occupied in pushing forward the necessary for an advance.

There are no sutlers here The quartermaster and subsistence departments are rapidly perfecting their arrangements to keep the army supplied with everything needed for the comfort of the troops.

ST. LOUIS, 12th.

Maj. Gen. Sigel has arrived from the South-west, having been compelled to leave his command on a short furlough of ill health. On his arrival at this city he was tendered a public reception.

WASHINGTON, 12th.

Colonel Anson Stager has been appointed by the War Department as the person to supply all passes to newspaper correspondents to accompany any of the army corps.

Mr Cyrus W. Field arrived here this morning direct from London, and reports that the feeling in England and France, in favor of this country, is daily increasing It is said that Mr Field brought with him from Europe proposals from influential capitalists to supply a very large amount of war material to the United States, to be delivered in New York, and payable entirely in bonds of our Government.

The following letter, addressed to Flag-Officer Goldsborough, was issued from the Navy Department on the 5th instant

"Sir—It is not unlikely that some vessels may make their appearance at Old Point for the purpose of trading with the army and naval forces, without authority to do so. None should be allowed without the permission of the Treasury War or Navy Departments, and should you discover any that have not such permission, you will seize them and send them into port for adjudication

I am, respectfully, your obedient servant,
(Signed) GIDEON WELLES,
Secretary of the Navy"

By orders recently issued, it is the duty of a commanding general in the field, or of a department, to make arrangements for the safe keeping and reasonable comfort of his prisoners He will give no orders for exchanging prisoners, or releasing them, except under instructions from the War Department But in emergences admitting of no delay, the general will act upon his own authority, and give any order relative to his prisoners the public interest may require—promptly reporting of his proceedings to the War Department, through the Adjutant General A general department for prisoners will be designated by the Secretary of War to be under the command of the Commissary General of prisoners, but, leaving it discretionary with the generals commanding departments, or in the field, to send their prisoners there

The telegraph line to Savannah, Tenn, was completed last Tuesday, but it has been broken, and the wire carried away, so that the communication is not perfect

The Department, up to ten o'clock to-night, has received no further information from Pittsburg landing than has already appeared in the newspapers, As General Halleck is near the scene of the battle, an official account is soon expected

It was reported at Bermuda that the Vermont was in good condition and was on her way to Port Royal

The French frigate Bellonona has arrived

WOODSTOCK, Va, 18th

To Hon E M Stanton, Secretary of War

We learn from Jackson's camp this morning that General Beauregard is dead The report comes direct from rebel sources near Mount Jackson

Impressive services were held to-day in all the brigades There is nothing new to report in regard to the enemy

(Signed,) N P BANKS
Major General

NEW YORK, 18th

A special despatch to the Sunday Mercury from Washington, says there are not 5000 rebels between Gordonsville and Richmond.

The Rappahannock river is very high.

The same paper states that it has advices from Port Royal to the effect that an assault on Savannah had been arranged for April 8th The advance pickets of the Union army were within eight miles of Savannah on the 7th. Nearly all our military forces had been distributed in the interior, and there on Beaufort Island had not been disturbed.

Brilliant Strategy of the Mackerel Brigade.

Mr Orpheus C Kerr, in his last letter to the New York Mercury, has the following

I was glad to order up my gothic stall on, Pegasus, the other day, and rattle down to Manassas once more

Upon reaching that celebrated field of Mars, my boy, I found the General of the Mackerel Brigade in his tent, surrounded by telegraphic instruments and railroad maps, while the Commo Section was drawn up in line outside

'You appear to be much absorbed, my venerable Spartan,' says I to the General, as I handled the diaphanous vessel he was using as an extra drop in the theatre of war

The General frowned like an obdurate parent refusing to let his only daughter marry a coal heaver, and says he

'I am absorbed in strategy. Eighteen months ago I was informed by a contraband that sixty thousand unnatural rebels were intrenched near here, and having returned the contraband to his master to be immediately shot, I resolved to overwhelm the rebels by strategy Thunder,' says the General, perspiring like a pitcher of ice water in June, 'if there is anything equal to diplomacy, it is strategy And now,' says the General sternly, 'it is my duty to order you to write nothing of this to the papers You write my movements, the papers publish it and are sent here, my adjutant takes the papers to the rebels, and so, you see, my plans are all known I have no choice but to suppress you'

'But,' says I, 'you might more surely keep the news from the rebels by arresting the adjutant'

'Thunder,' says the General, 'I never thought of that before'

Great men, my boy, are never so great but that they can profit occasionally by a suggestion from the humblest of the species I once knew a very great man who went home one night in a shower, and was horrified to find that he could not get his umbrella through the front door He was a very great man, understood sarcasm, made speeches that nobody can comprehend, and had relatives in Beacon street, Boston There he stood in the rain, my boy, pushing his umbrella this way and that, trying it endways and sideways, holding it at obtuse and acute angles but still it would n't go through the door nor anything like it. By and by there came along a chap of humble attainments, who sung out to him

'What's the matter, old three-and-sixpence'

The great man turned pantingly round, and said

'Ah, my friend, I cannot get my umbrella into the house. I've tried for half an hour to wedge it through the door, but I can't get it through, and know not how to act

The humble chap stood under a gas light, my boy, and by the gleams thereof his mouth was observed to pucker inferiorly

'Have you tried the experiment of shetting up that air umberrelly?' says he

The great man gave a start, and I says he

'Per Jovem! I didn't think to of that'

And he shut the umbrella and went in peace fully

The Comic Section was to make its grand strategic movement, my boy, under Captain Bob Shorty, and, led by that fearless warrior, it set out at twilight Onward tramped the heroes, according to Hardee, for about an hour, and then they reached a queer looking little house with a great deal of piazza and a very little ground floor With his cap cocked very much over one eye, Capt Bob Shorty knocked at the door, and was answered by a young maiden of about forty two

'Have seen any troops pass here of late?' asked Capt Bob Shorty, with much dignity

The Southern maiden who was a first family, sniffed indignantly, and says she

'I reckon not, your hireling Hessian'

'Forward—double quick—march!' says Capt Bob Shorty with much vehemence, 'that ere young woman has been eating onions'

Onward, right onward through the darkness, went the Comic Section of the Mackerel Brigade, eager to engage the rebel force and work out the genious of strategy Half an hour, and another house was reached In response to the captain's knock a son of chivalry, stuck his head out of the window, and says he

'There is nobody at home'

'Peace, ignoramus, says Captain Bob Shorty, majestically, the United States of America wishes to know if you have seen any troops go by to-night'

'Yes' says the chivalry, 'my sister saw a company go by just now I reckon'

'Forward—double-quick—march!' says Capt Bob Shorty, 'we can catch the Confederacy alive if we're quick enough'

And now, my boy the march was resumed with new vigor, for it was certain that the enemy was right in front and might be strategically annihilated A long time passed, however without the discovery of a soul, and it was after midnight when the next house was gained

A small black contraband came to the door, and says he—

'By gorry, mars'r sogerum, what you nah?'

'Tell me, young Christy's minstrel, says Captain Bob Shorty, have any troops passed here to-night?'

The contraband turned a somersault, and says he—

'Mars'r and missus hab seen two companies dis berry night, so help um God'

'Forward—double quick—march!' says Capt Bob Shorty 'Two companies is rather heavy for this here band of Spartans, but it is sweet to die for one's country'

The march went on, my boy, until we got to the next house, where the inmates refused to appear, but shouted that they had seen three companies go past At this Captain Bob Shorty was heard to scratch his head in the darkness, and says he

'This here strategy is a good thing at decent odds, but when it's three to one, it's more respectable to have all quiet on the Potomac Halt, fellow victims, and let us rest here until the daily sun kissed by the divine editor"

The orb of light was stealing up the east, my boy when Captain Bob Shorty sprang from his blanket, and observed the house before which the Comic Section was encamped, with protruding eyes

'By all that's blue!' says Captain Bob Shorty, 'if that aint the werry identical house where we saw the vinegar maiden last night'

And so it was, my boy! The Comic Section of the Mackerel Brigade had been going round and round on a private race course all night, stopping four times at the same judge's stand, and going after their tails like so many humorous cats

Strategy, my boy, is a profound science, and don't cost more than two millions a day, while the money lasts

Yours in deep cogitation,

ROCKHOUSE CREEK, Mo, 6th

Correspondence of the St Louis Democrat

The advance guard of our army, under Gen Oosterhause encamped at this point last evening having marched twenty miles from their old camp at Cross Timbers

The people in this city are mostly Union, there being but three secesh families here on this old road from Caruthville to Flat Creek I stopped with a gang of Union men last night found several gubors present, all anxious to be informed whether our army was going to leave them to the tender mercies of the secessionists They said no money could here them to endure the constant annoyance submitted to last summer They were forced to leave their families and crops, and hide themselves for weeks to get out of the reach of the rebels Bands of outlaws frequently come low from Caruthville, and rob Union men of everything in the house—blankets, bacon, etc If they caught the owner, he would be taken to Caruthville, under a strong guard

In consequence of the uncertainty of the future, and the unsettled state of the country, there are but few making any preparation to put in crops Farms are being left and fences burned during the fall, and Christmas is discouraged The slaves of this have mostly gone with their masters Some few Union men have not only abandoned the idea of making crops, but are getting their wagons and tackling to for-sake all, and emigrate to a place of safety

The wounded are doing well at Caruthville The court house and all the principal stores are being used as hospitals for the unfortunate circumstance that the owners of the principal buildings, being rebels, had left the town

On the 30th ult, an expedition consisting of cavalry and two howitzers, reconnoitered the country about Hamburg At the latter place it was found that a force of rebel cavalry whom we intended to bag, had made good their escape The ferry boat which Col Ingraham burned at Kentucky was ne cessarily torn down but was recently brought in and has been used in shuttling over the Provost Marshal's force at Caruthville

LOUISVILLE, Ky, 12th

A review of his whole line of march has been made by Gen Sherman, who rode in a carriage with his staff and the most enthusiastic applause of the soldiery The appearance of the whole command was quite creditable

WHEELING, Va, 13

To Hon E M Stanton Secretary of War

A despatch just received from Gen Rosecrans at Monterey, under date of yesterday, states as follows

The rebels about 10000 strong with cavalry companies and two pieces of artillery, attacked my pickets this morning at about 10 o'clock, and drove them some two miles I sent out reinforcements consisting of two companies of the 78th Ohio, two companies of the 2d Virginia, two companies of the 3d Ohio one gun of Capt Hyman's battery and one company of the cavalry under command of Major Webster The skirmishing was brisk for about one hour but the rebels were put to flight with considerable loss The casualties on our side were seven men of the 78th badly wounded Our men behaved nobly

PROF. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR.

Is precisely what its name indicates for while pleasant to the taste it is revivifying, exhilarating and strengthening to the vital powers.—It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic and yet so perfectly adapted as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence soothe the weakest stomach, and tone up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those combined having powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure. Such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world, both by the thoroughly skilled in medical science and also by all who have suffered by debility; for it needs no medical skill or knowledge even to see that debility follows all attacks of disease, and lays the unguarded system open to the attacks of many of the most dangerous diseases to which poor humanity is constantly liable. Such, for example, as the following: Consumption, Bronchitis, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Faintness, Nervous Irritability, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Melancholy, Hypochondria, Night Sweats, Languor, Giddiness, and all that class of cases so fearfully fatal if unattended to in time, called female weaknesses and irregularities. Also, Liver derangements or torpidity, and Liver complaints, diseases of the Kidneys, scalding or incontinence of the urine, or any general derangement of the urinary organs, pain in the back, side and between the shoulders, predisposition to slight colds, hacking and continued cough, emaciation, difficulty of breathing, and indeed we might enumerate many more still, but we have space only to say it will not only cure the debility following chills and fever, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked. And as it acts directly and persistently upon the biliary system arousing the liver to action, promoting in fact all the excretions and secretions of the system it will infallibly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon change of climate and water, hence all travelers should have a bottle with them, and all should take a table spoonful at least before eating. As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits—students, ministers, literary men. And all ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it. If they will, they will find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against those ills which rob them of their beauty; for beauty cannot exist without health, and health cannot exist while the above irregularities continue. Then again the cordial is a perfect mother's relief. Taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety. There is no mistake about it, this cordial is all we claim for it. Mothers, try it! And to you we appeal to detect the illness or decline not only of your daughters, before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former, from false delicacy, often go down to a premature grave rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business that if it were not for you they too would travel in the same downward path, until too late to arrest their fatal fall. But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we confidently appeal, for we are sure your never failing affection will unerringly point you to Prof. Wood's Restorative Cordial and Blood Renovator as the remedy which should be always on hand in time of need. O. J. WOOD, Proprietor, 444 Broadway, New York, and 114 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo., and sold by all good Druggists.

FILE CUTTING!

I WISH to inform the public that I still continue to re-cut Old Files and Rasps, of every description, which I will warrant to do as much work as new ones, at from one half to two-thirds the cost. I have also on hand a large stock of new and re-cut Files, which I will sell very low, for cash.
I would particularly recommend for those using Filing Machines to try my new pattern of MILL FILES, made expressly for these Machines.
All old Files sent to be recut, or orders for Files, will be promptly attended to.

YOU CAN'T FIND An Article that Suits as Well as HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Apothecaries and consumers all testify that It is the Only Reliable Article FOR THE BALD AND GRAY
Read the testimony from Kentucky.
PADUCAH, KY., July 27, 1860.
MR. W. A. BELL.
Dear Sir:—I have used HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE, and am satisfied, from an experience in all other preparations for the like purpose, that it is the only article ever before the public worth purchasing.
Yours truly, JOHN G. DALY.
PADUCAH, KY., July 27, 1860.
MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y.
Gents:—Above please find statement of Mr. John G. Daly, a merchant of our city, in regard to HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. This testimony is given after having used most of the preparations now before the public claiming to be Hair Restoratives, and must be considered conclusive as to the merits of the Inimitable. Am out of the large size. Forward by Railroad double the quantity we had before.
Very truly yours, W. A. BELL.
IT WILL RESTORE THE NATURAL COLOR OF THE HAIR, where age or sickness has turned it grey, and it will render it soft and glossy.
"ANYBODY" who may try it, will find that it does not color the skin, but by stimulating the natural secretions at the roots, gives new life and strength to the hair, and thus restores its color and freshness. It can be used as freely as water upon the scalp, and with as much safety—is composed of oil and stimulating spirits, and as an article for the toilet, has no equal.

MESSRS. W. E. HAGAN & Co.
I hereby certify that my Hair having become gray and my head partially bald, I bought from Henry Reynolds, Druggist, one four bit bottle of HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. By its use my Hair was restored to its original color and thickness; it removed all dandruff, arrested its falling and gave it a rich, glossy appearance. Its effects were entirely different from any Hair Preparation I ever used before. I know of several ladies and gentlemen, my intimate friends, who all speak of the "Inimitable" as being the best and cheapest Hair Preparation in our market. I can fully recommend it, and will refer any one to Henry Reynolds, Druggist, for the truth of my statements. WILLIAM BOSBYSHALL.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Aug. 2, 1860.
Messrs W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y.—Gents: The happy results attending the use of Heimstreet's Inimitable in every sense of the word,) Hair Restorative, seems to demand that I should give my testimony that other ladies might profit by it. I have never used a hair preparation that I liked so well. It has completely restored every hair that was grey to the color it was in girlhood, and has brought it out thick and healthy. I was induced to use the article by Mr. Reynolds, your agent here. If this letter will be of service, you may publish it.
Very respectfully yours, Mrs. M. M. BORST, Brooklyn st.
